

IMB Conference: Gene Regulation by the Numbers

19 - 21 June 2017

Finding your way to and around Mainz

Arriving at Frankfurt Airport

Public transportation:

- On arrival at Terminal 1 (A, B, C) or Terminal 2 (D, E) make your way to the Regional Train Station (S). Terminal 1 and 2 are connected by the "Sky Line", a free monorail train leaving every 3 min.
- The Regional Train Station (S) is located underground (Level 0) in Terminal 1, section B. There is also a long distance train station (T) which you can ignore.

- Your train: S-Bahn: S8
Direction: Wiesbaden Hbf (from Platform 3)
Frequency: every 30 mins

- Taxis can be found on Level 1 in Terminal 1 or Level 2 in Terminal 2 outside of the airport. The taxi costs to Mainz are around 50-60€.

How to buy a ticket

Option 1

You can queue up at the Reisezentrum and buy a ticket from the counter. You need to draw a number and may have to wait a little while.

Ticket machine step by step

1. Choose language
2. Select destination (Wiesbaden/Mainz)
3. Select single journey
4. Select the route of your travel (via Rüsselsheim)
5. Pay 4.80 EUR
6. Take your ticket (and change)

Option 2

If you have cash available (ideally coins but most machines also take small notes) buy your ticket from a machine. Navigation is available in English. You cannot pay with credit card. The machine automatically dispenses change.

Finding the train to Mainz

- Check blue sign: Regional trains, track 2-3
- The platforms are one level below the ticket hall and the travel center. Proceed to platform 3. (Make sure you don't go to the long distance train station [T])
- Attention: Train S8 departs from Frankfurt Airport in two directions. Your direction on platform 3 is to „Wiesbaden Hbf“.
- The journey takes around 30 min. Get off at Mainz Main Station - „Mainz Hbf“.

Conference Excursion to Eberbach Monastery

Tuesday 20 June 2017

This year, we will visit the beautiful and historic Eberbach Monastery, located amongst the vineyards of Eltville am Rhein.

Founded in 1136 by St. Bernard of Clairvaux (Burgundy) the monastery was one of the most active in Germany, and also boasted the largest vineyards in medieval Germany. Today the monastery continues to make exquisite wines and offers guided tours, enabling everyone to enjoy its history and architectural splendour. It also serves as a set for film and TV: the Season 5 trailers of “Game of Thrones” were filmed here, as well as the film “The Name of the Rose”.

Our excursion will include a strolling wine tasting tour, which will take in the different wine cellars, halls and refectories of the monastery. You will learn about the art of wine making as well as life in the monastery through the centuries.

Delegates will have free time to roam around the monastery, discover its secrets, buy wine or relax with a coffee. This will be followed by dinner in the monastery Laiendormitorium, an enchanting room with cross vault ceiling and a charming atmosphere.

Welcome to Mainz

Founded by the Romans as Mogontiacum, Mainz is one of the oldest cities in Germany. With a history of over 2000 years, Mainz has much to offer: situated at the confluence of the Rhine and Main rivers, Mainz has a sizeable university, fine pedestrian precincts and a certain savoir vivre whose origins go back to the Napoleon's occupation at the turn of the 18th century – at least that's what the "Mainzer" say.

Strolling along the Rhine river, enjoying the sun in the beer gardens, and sampling local wines in a half-timbered wine tavern in the Altstadt (old part of the city) are as much part of any Mainz visit as visiting the impressive Romanesque Dom St. Martin (St. Martin Cathedral), Marc Chagall's ethereal windows in St. Stephan's Kirche or the first printed bible in the Gutenberg Museum. In the 15th century, local hero Johannes Gutenberg perfected moveable type and became known as the inventor of modern book printing – the man of the millennium.

Not only is Mainz the capital of the federal state of Rhineland-Palatinate, but also one of the "Great Wine Capitals" of the world along with Bordeaux and Napa Valley.

What to see in Mainz

Dom St. Martin

Along with the cathedrals in Worms and Speyer, Mainz cathedral is one of the three Rhenish Imperial cathedrals. In 975 the Archbishop Willigis began with the construction of this great cathedral, modelling it on St. Peter's in Rome. Shortly before its day of consecration in August 1009 the cathedral burned down. The oldest surviving pieces of ornamentation from this time are the bronze door panels of the market portal. Rebuilt in the 12th century of deep red sandstone and topped by an octagonal tower, the cathedral is quintessentially Romanesque.

St. Stephan's Kirche

This Gothic Church was erected in the 13th century and stands on the foundations of the basilica built in Ottonian-pre-Romanesque style around 990. St. Stephan's is the only German church for which the Russian-Jewish artist Marc Chagall created nine brilliant, stained glassed windows. Bright blue and imbued with a mystical, meditative quality, they serve as a symbol of Jewish-Christian reconciliation.

Gutenberg Museum

Experience the history of printing, writing and books in one of the oldest museums of printing in the world. Two original Gutenberg Bibles of the mid-15th century are among the most valuable treasures of the Museum. Another main attraction is a reconstruction of Johannes Gutenberg's workshop where he perfected moveable type and thus became known as the inventor of modern book printing. With a large number of typographic instruments, old presses and typesetting machines and printed works from the 15th century, the history of letterpress printing comes to life at the Gutenberg Museum. A visit to the museum's educational print shop (Druckladen) is equally interesting. At the Druckladen, with the assistance of its expert staff, everybody can have a go at typesetting and printing.
